

Information for airport workers (international arrivals)

On 6 April 2021, the State Emergency Coordinator of Western Australia signed the Presentation for Testing (Airport Workers – International Arrivals) Directions (No 4). These directions require persons who work at Perth Airport with international arrivals to present for COVID-19 testing.

This fact sheet presents a summary only of the obligations arising under the directions. The signed directions are available at <https://www.wa.gov.au>.

Presentation for Testing (Airport Workers – International Arrivals) Directions (No 4)

You have been provided this information as you are an airport worker as defined in the Presentation for Testing (Airport Workers – International Arrivals) Directions (No 4), effective from 16.10 pm on 6 April 2021.

An airport worker is any person, other than a quarantine centre driver, who works or is otherwise engaged at Perth Airport who has contact with international arrivals, including:

- a person who processes international arrivals; or
- a person providing medical, health or ancillary services, including welfare related services to international arrivals.

An airport worker does not include flight crew members.

Testing requirements

These include:

- compliance with the seven-day presentation protocol, which involves presenting at a COVID clinic for testing (nasopharyngeal swab) every seven days on an ongoing basis until the completion of your final shift or before commencing a period of leave or absence of more than 4 days; and
- compliance with the shift presentation protocol on each day you work a shift at Perth Airport and the other employment presentation protocol on each day that you undertake other paid employment or work of any kind other than as an airport worker, at a location other than Perth Airport.

Note: As an airport worker you are not required to comply with the shift presentation protocol or other employment presentation protocol on a day that you receive a nasopharyngeal test for COVID-19 after having complied with either the seven-day presentation protocol, the absence presentation protocol or the end of employment presentation protocol.

Seven-day presentation protocol - nose and throat swab test

As an airport worker to whom these directions apply, you must present for testing within 7 days after the most recent date on which you:

- were last tested after presenting for 7-day testing;
- completed your first shift at Perth Airport; or
- completed your first shift at Perth Airport after a period of leave or absence of more than 4 days.

See 'COVID-19 testing locations' below for places where the weekly nose and throat swab test can be done.

Shift presentation protocol - mouth swab at each shift

As an airport worker, you will also be required to complete a self-collected mouth swab at every shift, except for the day that you have a nose and throat swab. This involves going to the Clinipath Clinic at Terminal 1 located near the arrivals gate on the ground floor, where mouth swabs are collected. The clinic operating hours are 12 noon to 11pm. Please do not attend the clinic whilst they are processing international flights.

You do not need to collect a mouth swab on days that you are not at work unless you are undertaking other employment (see other employment presentation protocol). If you develop symptoms of COVID-19 then you should not have a mouth swab.

You will be provided with a mouth swab self-collection kit at each shift to complete the test. The test involves placing a swab in your mouth for 20 seconds. Detailed instructions about how to do this test will be provided at your workplace and on the instructions sheet in your collection kit. The mouth swab will only be tested for COVID-19.

Other employment requirements – mouth swab on each day you undertake other employment

As an airport worker, if you are undertaking other paid employment or work of any kind other than as an airport worker at a location other than Perth Airport you must comply with the other employment presentation protocol.

Each day that you undertake other employment, you must present for a self-collected mouth swab, except for the day that you have a nose and throat swab. This involves going to the Clinipath Clinic at Terminal 1 located near the arrivals gate on the ground floor, where mouth swabs are collected. The clinic operating hours are 12 noon to 11pm. Please do not attend the clinic whilst they are processing international flights.

You are not required to comply with the other employment presentation protocol if it is not reasonably practicable to do so, in which case if you cannot comply with the other employment presentation protocol, that day constitutes a period of leave or absence for the purposes of the absence presentation protocol.

Leave requirements

As an airport worker, if you are on leave or otherwise absent for a period of more than 4 days (excluding persons who cease to be an airport worker) you must comply with the absence presentation protocol on:

- the day on which you undertake your last shift at Perth Airport before commencing your period of leave or absence; and
- each of the third, seventh and tenth days after the date of your last shift, unless you are no longer on leave on the relevant day.

The places where you can present for testing will vary depending upon what day of the protocol you are on.

If you are presenting for testing on the last day before you start leave, or on day 3, 7 or 10 of your leave or absence, you must present to a COVID clinic or to a hospital emergency department (nasopharyngeal swab).

If you are presenting for testing on the day of your first shift back from a period of leave or absence you must comply with the shift presentation protocol.

End of employment requirements

If you cease employment as an airport worker, you must comply with the end of employment presentation protocol on:

- the day on which you undertake your last shift at Perth Airport before ending your employment, or, in the event that you do not cease to be an airport worker until a day that is a different day to the day on which you completed your last shift, within 24 hours after the day on which you cease to be an airport worker (the cessation day); and
- on each of the third, seventh, tenth and fourteenth days after the cessation day.

Exemptions to testing

You are not required to present for testing under the Presentation for Testing (Airport Workers – International Arrivals) Directions (No 4) if you are:

- not in WA on the day you are required to present for testing;
- given a direction to quarantine at a quarantine centre or hospital; or
- required to quarantine or isolate under the Quarantine and Isolation (Undiagnosed) Directions (No 2) or the Isolation (Diagnosed) Directions (No 2).

Requirement to isolate

Whilst awaiting your test result you can continue to work and undertake your daily activities, unless you have symptoms at the time of the test or are directed otherwise. The people with whom you live can continue to work and undertake their daily activities.

COVID clinics

You can attend any of the following COVID clinics for your seven day nose & throat swab. When you arrive at the COVID clinic please inform the clinic that you are an airport worker. Metropolitan COVID clinics generally have shorter wait times after 2pm.

In addition, an airport worker can attend at Perth Airport, the Clinipath Clinic at Terminal 1, located near the arrivals gate on the ground floor.

Please take a legible form of identification (ID) such as your driver's licence so the clinic can validate your name and date of birth. Please also take your work ID. It is also important to be able to provide a mobile phone number so your results can be sent to you.

Further details, including opening hours of these clinics, are available at: https://www.healthywa.wa.gov.au/Articles/A_E/COVID-clinics.

Further details, including contact details of regional clinics are available at: <https://healthywa.wa.gov.au/-/media/HWA/Documents/Health-conditions/COVID19/COVID19-where-to-get-tested-in-regional-and-remote-WA.pdf>

If you develop symptoms of COVID-19

If you develop symptoms of COVID-19, including fever, respiratory symptoms such as cough, sore throat or runny nose, or loss of smell or taste, you must call 13 COVID (13 268 43). During office hours, you may call the Department of Health's Public Health Emergency Operations Centre (PHEOC) directly on 1300 316 555 (8am-5pm, 7 days a week). Report your symptoms and comply with any instruction given.

Results

You will be advised of a test result by text message within three business days of your test. If you had your test done at one of the above listed COVID clinics and have not received a test result within three business days, you can call 1800 313 223 between Monday and Friday from 8am to 4pm to enquire about your test result. If you have been tested in a regional or remote area, please be aware that there may be a delay in receiving your results.

Evidence of a COVID-19 test

You must retain evidence of every test you have for COVID-19. You will be provided with the opportunity to photograph the pathology form when you have a test and store this on your phone as a record of your attendance.

If you test positive

If you receive a positive result from a COVID-19 test you must isolate in accordance with the Isolation (Diagnosed) Directions (No 2). You are not able to continue working. A member of PHEOC will contact you to advise what action to take. They will seek to identify who you have been in close contact with whilst you were potentially infectious. This is known as contact tracing.

You will only be permitted to stop isolation and resume your usual activities when you are officially released from isolation by the PHEOC.

Refusal to present for COVID-19 testing

If you fail to comply with the Presentation for Testing (Airport Workers – International Arrivals) Directions (No 4) it may be an offence which is punishable by imprisonment for up to 12 months or a fine of up to $50,000 for individuals and $250,000 for bodies corporate.
