

Quarantine Driver Directions Factsheet

On 25 June 2021, the State Emergency Coordinator of Western Australia signed the Quarantine Driver Directions (Directions). These Directions require certain persons who work as quarantine drivers to present for COVID-19 testing and to wear a face mask while providing transport services. These Directions replace the Quarantine Centre Drivers Directions (previous directions).

This fact sheet presents a summary only of the obligations arising under the Directions and does not replace the Directions, which are the legal instrument that you must comply with. The signed Direction is available at <https://www.wa.gov.au>.

Quarantine Driver Directions

A quarantine driver is any person who is employed or otherwise engaged to provide transport services to:

- any person who is subject to quarantine requirements or
- any person who is an international flight crew member.

What is a transport service?

A transport service is either or both of:

- the driving of a transport vehicle:
  - to and from a quarantine centre to any place; or
  - to and from an approved crew hotel to any place; or
  - from a port or airport to a hospital; and
- any other activity which requires a person to be physically present on a transport vehicle other than a passenger while it is being used for any of the above purposes.

A transport vehicle means a vehicle that has been arranged by, or in consultation between, the owner or operator of the vehicle with any of:

- the State Health Incident Command Centre; or
- the Department of Health; or
- an airline or airport operator; or
- a shipping agent,

to transport one or more people, subject to quarantine requirements, or any international flight crew member. A transport vehicle does not include a taxi or rideshare but does include an ambulance or a bus.

Testing requirements

A person who is a quarantine driver is required to present to a COVID Clinic for testing under the:

48-hour presentation protocol – nose and throat swabs

You must present for testing within 48 hours of completing your first shift as a quarantine driver. If you complied with the same requirement under the previous Directions, you do not need to comply with it again under these Directions.

Seven-day presentation protocol – nose and throat swabs

The seven day presentation protocol is a rolling requirement to present for testing while you are a quarantine driver. You must present for testing within 7 days after the day on which you:

- were last tested;
- completed your first shift as a quarantine driver;
- completed your first shift as a quarantine driver after a period of leave or absence of more than 14 days.

You are required to continue to comply with this protocol for 14 days after:

- you complete your last shift before taking a period of leave or absence from your position as a quarantine driver for more than 14 days
- you cease being a quarantine driver.

Requirement to isolate

While waiting for your test result you do not need to isolate unless you have symptoms at the time of the test or are directed otherwise. You can continue to work and undertake your daily activities, and the people with whom you live can continue to work and undertake their daily activities.
